SYNERGY REHAB CLASSES

Synergy's Movement Therapy Rehabilitative Programs were developed by Dr. Raza Awan and Riki Richter. Each program addresses common deficits hindering recovery and exercises are based on sound biomechanics and evidence-based protocols. These classes teach functional embodied biomechanics and empower the patient to self manage their injury. Once learned, these exercises can be incorporated into their daily routine as preventative and strengthening measures, or for pre- and post-surgical recovery rehab and used as pre-habilitation. To begin, register for a 4-week series, after which we recommend you repeat the series again. During your second series you can FLEX BOOK - attend any of the classes in the same program in any order at any time.. Classes are non-refundable and non-transferable from one specified program to another. Please be aware that start dates may be postponed until minimum attendance requirements are met. It is the responsibility of the participant to schedule makeup classes.
